National Guard Sr. Enlisted Leader Visiting VING Air Unit on St. Croix

The Virgin Islands National Guard will host the visit of a National Guard senior enlisted advisor on St. Croix during the training weekend Saturday, March 7 through Monday, March 9.

Command Chief Master Sergeant James W. Hotaling will conduct a site visit to the 285th Civil Engineering Squadron (CES) of the Virgin Islands Air National Guard (VIANG) at Manning Hill adjacent to the Roebuck Industrial Park on St. Croix. His travel includes visits with Airmen in the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. He represents the highest level of enlisted leadership and is the principal advisor to the director of the Air National Guard. CMSgt Hotaling is responsible for matters influencing the health, morale, welfare and professional development of more than 105,400 Air Guard members.

During his visit to the territory, CMSgt Hotaling will recognize some V. I. Airmen for their outstanding performance. In addition to meeting with the 285th CES, CMSgt Hotaling will visit with V. I. National Guard leadership at the Brigadier General Gerard L. James, Sr. Joint Force Headquarters, Estate Bethlehem.
